

Teaching Guitar Workshops Impact Report

Celebrating 10 years of proven music-education success

Taught by the NAFME Guitar Education Team, Teaching Guitar Workshops equips school music educators to launch and sustain successful classroom guitar and ukulele programs.

Coast to Coast Impact

Since 1995, Teaching Guitar Workshops has trained over 5,000 teachers nationwide. Those educators have opened the door to substantive music education for more than 1.28 million students.

48

We reached 48 communities by holding clinics in local schools

137

We have held 137 clinics held in the last 10 years

1,643

1,643 teachers have taken out clinics over the past 10 years

$100k

Over $100K given in grant awards

92% of our teachers say that their students wish to continue to learn guitar

93% of teachers told us their students sustained progress in their guitar classes

98% of attendees believe that the workshops adequately prepared them to teach guitar

99% learned specific instructional skills that they can apply when teaching

91% agreed that their school's administration supports their guitar program

98% of attendees would recommend the workshops to their colleagues

96% of attendees felt that the workshops exceeded their expectations

99% of attendees gained a better understanding of how to teach guitar

1,393 Guitars Given

A total of 1,393 guitars have been given to teachers, along with hundreds of capos, strings, picks, straps, and other accessories, as well as thousands of method books, thanks to the support of our GAMA members and TGW sponsors.

10 Years of Impact

Thanks to our sponsors

